The Band Banquetted

The following from the San Jose Mercury would indicate that the Nevada Band is receiving a hearty welcome in San Jose:

The performance of the Garden City Wheelman Minstrels, augmented by the great Nevada State Band, proved to be a great attraction at the Auditorium last evening. The attendance was certainly a great improvement over the first night, and a great deal more enthusiasm prevailed. The Nevada band, with its complement of twenty-five musicians, proved to be one of the greatest hits of the evening.

After the performance the members of the visiting band were escorted to the music rooms of the First Regimental Band, in Sleeper Hall, and an elegant banquet was served. After the good things had been done ample justice many toasts were responded to by the members of both organizations. The visitors will be looked after while in this town by the boys of the First Regimental Band.

(SPECIAL TO THE APPEAL)

San Jose, Dec. 21.—The Nevada Band received an ovation here. They were repeatedly cheered at the Auditorium, pelted with flowers and applauded all along the parade and all local musical organizations in San Jose took off their hats to them. Chas. Shortridge has provided for every want and their appearance in San Jose has provoked the greatest enthusiasm. Their name on the concert program packs the house.

The Creamery Project

The creamery project is being discussed by the farmers in the vicinity of Carson and all are very much interested. The committee having the work of issuing a prospectus in charge will about the first of the year have it in shape to issue so that each rancher will have a printed outline of the whole plan, and after they have thoroughly familiarized themselves with the details they will be in condition to meet in Carson and discuss the matter intelligently.

There has been a rumor that the plan was to only pay 35 cents a hundred pounds for milk. This is untrue. The price paid will be more than double that. It will of course vary according to the price of butter. After the enterprise is well on its feet it will be turned over to the farmers themselves to run on the co-operative plan. After that the price paid for the milk will very little figure as all the profits will go into the pockets of the ranchers and they can fix their own price for milk.

Died

In this city, December 21, 1899, Henry H. Rice, a native of Canada, aged 46 years and 4 months.

Although Harry Rice has been regarded as a very sick man it was a sad blow to his wife and many friends when his death came. Harry Rice has resided in this city for over twenty years and during that period made many friends. He has been employed for many years by the V. & T. R. R. in a number of capacities and while employed as engineer earned the reputation of "Lightning Harry," as he was fearless and no engine ever turned a wheel too fast for him. He was generous to a fault and the only enemy he had was himself.

He leaves to mourn his loss a wife, three daughters, a son and a mother in the East.

The funeral will take place from his late residence Saturday, December 23, at 2 p. m.

A Rich Strike

Word comes from the Gregory mine near Brunswick of a very rich strike in copper. The mines for some weeks past have been looking well and a few days ago a deposit of native copper was uncovered. It is the real article and the owners figure on a bonanza.

Judge Coffey of San Francisco is making a determined stand against the legal harpies who rob estates. The looting of estates by thieving attorneys has become such a recognized industry all over the coast that it is looked upon as a legitimate business. Not until a few of these miserable rascals are behind the bars will the looting of estates be stopped. These same thieves who fatten off the dead have all the disposition of highwaymen except the nerve to risk a tussle with the living.

The British say they want to make the Boers progressive and civilized. The Boers seem to be quite up to date in war tactics while England clings to all the old methods. She seems to have better guns, better Generals and better tactics. Kruger ought to open a night school and show the English something of modern warfare.

England will send more artillery to South Africa. Better first find out what particular make will suit Paul Kruger as they will eventually fall into his hands after they get there. He does not seem to be very fastidious however as he takes anything in the line of artillery that they have to offer.

Books and Money

Perhaps money is the best friend on earth; but it takes a good deal of money to place one in such a position that he can usually call on it with reasonable certainty that it will meet his requirements.

Books, on the other hand are often valuable friends to the rich, the well-to-do, and the poor. In a book one may have the result of the best effort of a great and good life. Sometimes the recognized wisdom of ages is concentrated and set forth upon its pages; sometimes the beauties unfolded and given from soul to soul bring the reader near to heaven.

Books to be enjoyed need not be expensive. If the right author be between the covers, and if he speak in clear type, large enough to be easily read—such a book, for instance, as Davis and Farrer sell in good cloth binding for twenty-five cents and upward—it may give far more satisfaction than others, much more expensive.

Then too, when you have read, or re-read an old favorite which only cost a trifle, you may lend or give it to an acquaintance without feeling that you are making yourself poor.

These reflections hardly apply to the fancy books for children. The child is monarch of Christmas time; and those who would make offerings to delight him may find in the same place fancy colored picture books in large variety of styles and prices.

Try It.

Ever since the wet weather has come on people have been trying what virtue there is in Saloline, the new preparation for making leather waterproof. It is pronounced the best by all who try it. The leather absorbs the oil and water cannot get through the shoe or boot any more than it can through rubber. It does not give the shoe any changed appearance but makes it like rubber as far as moisture is concerned. Send for a two bit sample of Meyer & Miller 1556 Mission street, San Francisco, and you will never be without it.
